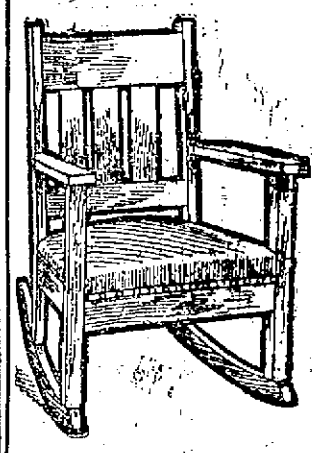
ESTABLISHED 1846. NEWPORT, R. I., THURSDAY, JANUARY 9, 1913. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Mission Furniture.

No longer a fad but a thing of acknowledged permanency, and all due to the real hard common sense of the thing. The idea of comfort of long service is stamped all over every piece of this school of design. Its massive frame, its powerful construction, its soft color scheme appeal to the common sense in us at once, it has come to stay.



A Piece of Unusual Value.

This typical rocker is a trim representation.

The automobile seat of genuine Spanish leather in color to harmonize with the finish of the frame bespeaks comfort of the highest order. The price is a genuine Titus surprise.

JUDGE BAKER PROBABLE FOR SUPREME BENCH.

His Promotion Likely to Harmonize Rival Factions.

Candidates for the Various Vacancies on the Superior Court.

[Special despatch to The News.]

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 9.—Judge Darius Baker's chances of being elevated from the superior to the supreme bench are looking much brighter. There are indications that, to harmonize the different factions which have developed with candidates, the Newport man may prove to be the only alternative, and with this berth fairly well settled the politicians are today turning their attention to other court vacancies, actual and prospective.

It looks just at present like the electio noe John W. Sweeney of Westerly to the vacancy on the superior bench caused by the death of Judge C. M. Lee, and then the filling of the proposed new judgeship with a Democrat. Who that will be is considerabel of a problem, though J. T. Eagan, a corporation lawyer of this city, is supposed to have the lead in the race, with ex-Governor Higgins and John J. Fitzgerald close behind.

If Judge Baker is elevated this will provide for yet another election to the lower bench, and for this are named Commissioner in Bankruptcy C. W. Barrows, ex-Senator Frederick Jones of Cranston and ex-Attorney General W. P. Greenough, as aspirants, with places in line as named.

FARE ORDERED REDUCED.

Utilities Commission Acts in Providence-est Barrington Case.

[Special despatch to The News.]

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 9.—The Public Utilities Commission today issued an order to the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, directing it to reduce its fare from Providence to West Barrington from 15 to 10 cents. West Barrington is only a short distance from Riverside and the railroad company has charged an extra five cents for the run from the latter and this fact has caused considerable agitation among the commuters on the road. Riverside is in East Providence and West Barrington in the town of Barrington, and the company had arranged its fare zones in accordance with the town limits in the case.

FALL OF ADRIANOPLE LIKELY.

Progress Toward a Resumption of the Peace Conference Slow.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The progress toward a resumption of the peace conferences between the Balkans and Turkish empire is slow. It may, however, be accelerated after today's meeting at the foreign office of the ambassadors, who are expected to agree on united action which they hope may put an end to the deadlock in the event that intervention should become necessary. The delegates in the meantime are consulting in separate groups, but neither side appears anxious to convene another meeting of the conference until Turkey is ready to make proposals which promise a basis for fruitful discussion.

Dr. Danieff, the chief Bulgarian peace plenipotentiary, today received cipher messages from the Bulgarian capital, which represented conditions in Adrianople as appalling and the fall of the city is imminent.

MATTER SETTLED BY PROTOCOL.

Turks Ask for Authorization to Re-Victual Adrianople.

SOFIA, Jan. 9.—The official story made publi etoday of the recent meeting between General Savoff, the Bulgarian commander-in-chief, and Nazim Pasha, Turkish commander-in-chief, says the Turks asked for authorization to re-victual the fortress of Adrianople. General Savoff replied that that matter had been settled by the armistice protocol. The Turks also are said to have raised the question of the future possession of the fortress, but General Savoff declared that the peace delegates in London would deal with that subject.

RATIONS GREATLY REDUCED.

Fugitives from Adrianople Find Little Food at Servian Camp.

BELGRADE, Servia, Jan. 9.—Fugitives from the fortress of Adrianople, who have reached the Servian camp in front of that city, report that the only food obtainable inside the walls is bread and the rations distributed to inhabitants and soldiers have now been reduced to a quarter of a pound per head daily.

RESTING EASIER TODAY.

Nothing Said About an Operation Upon the Duchess of Connaught.

MONTREAL, Jan. 9.—The Duchess of Connaught, wife of the Governor General of Canada, passed a comfortable night at the Victoria Hospital. She was brought here yesterday from Ottawa suffering from peritonitis. After a consultation her physicians issued the following bulletin: "Her Royal Highness, the Duchess of Connaught, passed a comfortable night and was resting easier this morning."

Nothing was said about an operation. The duchess is attended by her own physician and two Montreal specialists.

RECEIVERS TO ACCEPT BID.

Entered by United States Motors Company's Re-Organization Committee.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Receivers of the United States Motors Co. were ordered by Federal Judge Hough today to accept the bid of $7,080,000, entered yesterday by representatives of the company reorganization committee at the foreclosure sale of the properties.

GOVERNMENT PLEA FOR INJUNCTION GRANTED.

Eastern States Retail Lumber Association a Conspiracy.

Operated by Black Lists, Fines, Expulsions and Fixed Sale Prices.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—The government's petition for a permanent injunction against the Eastern States Retail Lumber Dealers' Association, alleged to be a combination in restraint of trade, was granted today by Judges Lacombe, Cox, Ward and Noyes, sitting in the federal district court. Final arguments for and against the injunction were heard a few weeks ago.

The defendants include, besides the association named, the New York Lumber Trade Association, the Building Material Men's Association, the New Jersey Lumbermen's Protective Association, the Retail Lumbermen's Association, the Lumber Dealers' Association of Connecticut, the Massachusetts Retail Lumber Dealers' Association, the Lumber Dealers' Association of Rhode Island, the Retail Lumbermen's Association of Baltimore, the Lumber Exchange of the District of Columbia and their officers, directors, members and delegates. In the government's petition, filed May 18, 1911, it was alleged that the defendants were engaged in a conspiracy in restraint of interstate trade and commerce and operated through the instrumentality of black lists, the imposition of fines and expulsion from membership in the combine of "poachers" and "scalpers," and by means of trade agreements arbitrarily fixed prices for the sale of lumber and lumber products.

The petition explained that the "black lists" were known to the members of the combination as the "official reports" and that "poachers" were retailers who extended their operations to territory which, under the trade agreements, should be supplied by another lumber yard, and that "scalpers" were retailers who carried on their business to the detriment of wholesalers.

In the petition the government included itself as a consumer of furniture and asked that the defendants be perpetually enjoined from making any contract or combination in furtherance of the conspiracy complained of in any of the states or territories or District of Columbia. By today's decision this is granted.

UPON A WRIT OF ERROR.

So-Called Green Case to be Brought to United States Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The so-called Green case, brought in the New York state court to contest increased rates imposed by the Royal Arcanum, will be brought to the Supreme Court of the United States upon a writ of error which has been granted by Associate Justice Hughes.

SAFE AT GUANTANAMO.

The Sonoma Arrives Early in the Morning; No News of Panther.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Naval tug Sonoma, which left Hampton Roads with repair ship Panther for Guantanamo, January 3, arrived at the latter port at 1 o'clock this morning. No word has been received from the Panther, but Navy Department officials insist that there is still no reason to fear, for her safety, as the tug and her convoy were doubtless separated by the bad weather and each was obliged to make way into port alone. It is expected that something will be heard from the Panther during the day.

The arrival of the Sonoma encouraged naval officials in their view that the Panther probably may not arrive before tomorrow. The Panther is a slower vessel than the more modern Sonoma, which cleared from New York several hours ahead of the repair ship.

AUTHORITIES LITTLE CONCERNED

The Panther Would be Unable to Reach Guantanamo in Less Than a Week.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Authorities at the New York navy yard said today that they felt no concern for repair ship Panther. It was explained at the commandant's office that she could hardly make the trip to Guantanamo in less than a week, in the face of weather conditions that have prevailed and she did not leave New York until the afternoon of Thursday last.

To ally apprehension for the safety of the Panther, the Navy Department today issued the following memorandum:

"The Panther left New York at noon January 2. It is 1,345 miles to Guantanamo. Under favorable weather conditions the Panther would make about nine knots an hour, making her due at Guantanamo at 5 p. m. January 8. Bad weather was undoubtedly encountered, which would result in reduced speed or a change of course, making the route longer.

"Last year at this time, when heavy weather was also experienced, the Panther took exactly seven days for passage from Hampton Roads to Guantanamo. New York is 235 miles farther distant from Guantanamo than is Hampton Roads. Therefore, it is fair to allow about eight days on this occasion for the passage, making the Panther due at Guantanamo on this basis on the afternoon of January 10."

PROMINENT IN TEXTILE TRADE.

Rufus A. Soule, Collector of the Port of New Bedford, Dead.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Jan. 9.—Rufus A. Soule, collector of the port of New Bedford and formerly president of the Massachusetts senate, died today. He was prominently identified with the textile industry. He was 73 years old. Mr. Soule was born March 16, 1839 at Mattapoisett, Mass. He leaves a widow and three children, Mrs. Garry De N. Hough and Mrs. Alexander T. Smith of this city and Rufus A. Soule, Jr., of New York.

ARTILLERY COMMENDED BY ADJUTANT GENERAL.

Declared in a Class by Itself Among Chartered Companies.

Bill Increasing Power of Utilities Commission Introduced.

[Special despatch to The News.]

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 9.—In the General Assembly today a bill was introduced by Senator Pierce of Cranston, carrying out the recommendation of Governor Pothier, increasing the powers of the Public Utilities Commission so that it may be authorized to make a physical valuation of public utilities corporations to prevent the watering of stock.

In the house the special committee reported the old rules for the guidance of the body during the present sessions. It is expected that a hard fight will be made by the Democrats to amend the rules when they are taken up for consideration next week.

The adjutant general's report, which was presented by the governor, had a number of recommendations which are especially interesting to the members of the militia and proposed some drastic work to improve that force.

In the senate Mr. Pierce of Cranston introduced the act to increase the authority of the Public Utilities Commission. The bill also authorizes the commission to provide for a maximum work day for employes of railroads and to regulate the wages of such employes.

Mr. Munroe of Providence introduced an act, similar to one introduced by him last year, providing for the appointment of three committee clerks by the lieutenant governor and three by the Speaker of the house, to perform all committee work and receive a salary of $1,000 each; these clerks to take the place of all other committee clerks.

Mr. Munroe also introduced an act relating to the care of infant children, the purpose being to prevent the farming out of children by unauthorized persons.

Mr. Bennett of Woonsocket introduced an act increasing the salaries of the members of the board of aldermen of Woonsocket from $150 to $300 and those of the common councilmen from $100 to $200 a year.

All these bills were laid on the table, pending the appointment of committees.

The annual report of the adjutant general was presented by Governor Pothier. Adjutant General Abbot speaks of inspections of the various commands of the state and says of the Newport Artillery: "The Newport Artillery is in a class by itself among the chartered companies, everything that was attempted being done as well as could be expected. The presence of many recruits accounts for a slight falling off in the setting-up exercises and the manual, but every other part of the inspection was up to the usual high standard-arms, bright and shining, uniforms clean and all details showing great care."

He speaks of the retirement of Colonel Mulhearn of the Second district and the attempt made at that time to merge teh two districts in one, and sems it unfortunate that the plan aroused the opposition of the Second district. Referring with regret to the small number of officers who qualified in the first basic examination in the coast artillery, he expresses the hope that those who fail in the second examination in May and show no inclination to come up to standards in their work will take it upon themselves to resign. He urges that the power of the governor as commanding officer of the militia be increased, so that he can remove if necessary, and that there be a change in the manner of electing officers of the militia, so that they may be chosen for life or good behavior.

In the house Mr. Levy of Newport, chairman of the committee on rules, reported a resolution adopting the rules in effect last year. On motion of Mr. Hamill of Bristol the resolution was made a special order for Friday at 12:30, when the rules to which there are no objections will be acted upon and those to which there is objection will be made a special order for Tuesday at 12:30. The fight on the rules will come Tuesday.

Mr. Eaton of Providence introduced several acts—authorizing the police and firemen of Providence to hold their annual balls in the State armory in 1914, permitting the granting of permits for Sunday concerts, providing for a 54-hour week for women and children, providing for mechanics' liens on real property, providing an eight-hour day for employes of cities and towns in the state, and for "the better observance of Sunday."

Mr. O'Neil of Providence introduced a bill authorizing Providence to demand that the Rhode Island Company, which operates the street railways running in and out of that city, to erect a waiting room on Exchange place and to demand that the company shall erect an electric sign, to be read at a distance of 300 feet from the waiting room, upon which shall be shown the destination of each approaching car.

CHANCE SIGNS WITH NEW YORK.

Will Receive About $40,000 a Year as National League Club Manager.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—The American League brought out its heaviest battalion today and captured Frank Chance. The former Chicago National League team's manager was signed to manage the New York club at a salary and interest which amounts to $120,000 for the three years for which he signed—the largest amount ever paid a base ball player. Of this sum $75,000 is salary and the remainder the estimated value of five per cent of the net earnings of the club.

Two days of negotiations between Chance and Frank Farrell, owner of the New York club, were brought to a climax this afternoon when the principals quietly visited the office of Ban B. Johnson, president of the league. There they came to their agreement after less than an hour's conference, and the announcement that Chance had signed was made.

What part the league had in concluding the negotiations, was, of course, not given out. It was remarked, however, that President Johnson had remained away from the meeting of the national commission at Cincinnati and that the announcement of the conclusion of the negotiations was given out only after the head of the organization had been consulted. Rumor, therefore, concluded that the Johnson circuit had decided the opportunity to secure Chance must not be overlooked and had resolved to back Farrell in any proposition he might make.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

Four Electoral Votes of Vermont Expected to Go to Nicholas Butler.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Jan. 8.—Political leaders here expect that the four electoral votes of Vermont, or half the total number in the Republican column will be given to Nicholas Murray Butler of New York for Vice President. Whether Utah, the only other Republican state, will join Vermont in support of Mr. Bugler or carry out a reported plan of voting for a woman has not been learned. The four Vermont electors stated today that they would not vote for a women for vice president. These electors are L. P. Slack of St. Johnsbury, W. H. Crockett of Montpelier, Roger W. Hurlburt of Burlington, and E. R. Morse of Rutland. The electors will meet Saturday for organization and will cast their votes Monday in accordance with the provisions of the constitution.

PROPOSED MOVE ATTACKED.

Pinchot Says a Great Battle in Fight for Conservation Is Ahead.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—"One of the great battles in the fight for conservation is just ahead," declared Gifford Pinchot, formerly government forester, in an address at the annual meeting here today of the American Forestry Association. He attacked a movement which he said was on foot to wipe out the old dividing line between state and national action in conserving natural resources and to turn the national forests over to the states. He described the movement as one "in which men of high principle are fighting side by side with men whose principles live in their pockets, and for that reason it is doubly to be feared."

The success of these forces, said Mr. Pinchot in conclusion, would [illegible] of conservation and the ultimate passage of untold millions of public property into the hands of men who do not need any more of it in order to be perfectly sure of three square meals a daya.

Other speakers were Secretary Fisher, Chief Government Forester Henry F. Graves, Professor H. H. Chapman of Yale University, Charles L. Pack, president of the National Conservative Congress and W. B. Greeley, L. C. Knelpp, R. C. Stuart and William Hall of the forest service. The association concluded its convention with the election of officers.

ENTERS UPON SECOND TERM.

Governor Baldwin Inaugurated as Chief Executive of Connecticut.

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 8.—With the inauguration of Governor Simeon E. Baldwin today for a second term as chief executive of Connecticut, the state administration passes from the Republicans to the Democrats for the first time in a long period of years, and for that reason more than usual political interest centered in the ceremonies.

The house is nominally Republican but the senate is Democratic by a margin of 14. The presence of eight Progressives in the lower branch gives the Democrats hope that they will hold politically a strategical position in that body when a test of strength comes in upholding policies laid down by the governor and supported by the Democratic senate. The assumption is that the Progressives will act independently and the latter expect re-inforcement from those Republicans who are in sympathy with the legislative program laid out by the committee of Progressive party assigned to keep watch over legislative matters.

Governor Baldwin, sixty-fifth governor since the colonial days of John Haynes and forty first since the adoption of the constitution of 1818, is the first to enter a second term since Morgan G. Bulkeley in 1891.

MARYLAND CANNERIES.

[Baltimore American.]

In proportion to area and population Maryland leads all other states in the business of canning foods. In some branches of the canning industry Maryland leads absolutely. In Baltimore, when the canneries in the city and those scattered throughout the state close down, we begin loading ships with canned goods and begin also to send canned stuffs to New York and the large interior cities by train loads. The canning of fruits and vegetables has gradually made a tremendous variation of the farming industries of the state. The growing of tomatoes has become just as much a staple industry in Maryland as the growing of wheat, corn, hay or tobacco.

In one of the smaller Maryland counties it is estimated that the tomato crop this year brought the farmers $227,000. It is a moderate estimate that places the full value of this crop in the state at $3,000,000. This is but one item of the various foods that are put into tins in this state and sent, mainly from the port of Baltimore, all over the world. Among the other foods that are extensively canned are corn, beans, peas, asparagus, peaches, pears, apples and sweet potatoes. Oysters, crab meat and clams are also extensively preserved in cans in Baltimore canneries and in the canneries of a dozen or so tidewater towns.

Canning foods is a manufacturing industry that is susceptible of indefinite expansion. In seeking to promote manufacturing industries in the state it is well to proceed along lines of natural adaptation.

THE WIDENING OF BATH ROAD.

Approach to Beach Should be Made a Broad, Open, Handsome Thoroughfare.

Advantages of Improvement Urged and Objections Answered by a Summer Resident.

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir: It has been a source of interest to me to note the discussion which has been going on, in a leisurely fashion, in Newport over the widening of Bath road, and I am sure your readers will grant me indulgence for entering into this discussion, pleading as my justification that I am a summer resident with an unprejudiced and open mind.

That at present Bath road is narrow, crowded and sordid is obvious. That it should be a broad, open and handsome thoroughfare seems to be equally obvious and for the following reasons:

Take a map of Newport and you will notice that there are practically but two main outlets from the city to the surrounding country. Broadway is one, as a whole a fine thoroughfare. Bath road is the other. Comparisons would be invidious and the contrasts are too apparent for comment.

Bath road is also the main and only direct road to Easton's beach and in order to improve this beach and make is worthy of Newport there must be a satisfactory approach thereto. Sometimes I wonder if familiarity has not blinded the eyes of many of your people. Within one mile of the centre of your city there is a fine crescent beach, facing the southeast and bathed by the Atlantic ocean. What possibilities to enhance its beauty! What possibilities for health and recreation! What other city so fortunate! But what other city would have done so little to improve this great treasure or would have permitted so shabby an approach as Bath Road to have existed?

Bath road is also the connecting link between Ocean and Bellevue avenues and the Middletown road leading from the beach past Purgatory, into Paradise and the picturesque and beautiful country beyond. Consider the advantages of changing this connecting link into a fine avenue. It would make a continuously beautiful drive from Newport harbor by way of Ocean and Bellevue avenues to the Seaconnet shore, 20 miles or more in length, unrivalled by few drives of the world.

Perceiving the advantages of improving this road, one of your residents has generously given a considerable strip of land for its widening and this gift has been accepted by the city. There were no conditions or restrictions with this gift, but certain admirable suggestions as to the laying out of the road were made; namely, that it should be a thoroughfare 110 feet in width, comprising a roadway for trolley cars, driveways for carriages, motor cars and other vehicles, and sidewalks bordered with trees, a fine and dignified avenue.

Moreover, I understand that several other owners of adjacent areas are willing to give similar strips of land to the city for this widening and improvement and that these gifts would aggregate upwards of 1,200 feet in length, with a width of 70 feet, but what they await the decision of one or two others who hesitate. I feel sure that those who are still unconvinced will realize this great need and will gracefully and generously seize this opportunity to do your city this inestimable service.

Every one knows that attempts at improvement always meet with opposition, and the present instance is no exception.

And the first objection made is that the expense would be disproportionate to the benefit derived. This objection seems to me untenable. It has been the history and experience of all cities that in making improvements of this nature the increase in value of adjacent property has more than compensated for the expenses incurred in taking the land and in making improvements, and there is no reason to believe that Newport's experience will differ from others in this particular.

Another objection has been made that, by widening and laying out this road as proposed, certain trees would be destroyed; therefore a compromise measure has been suggested. It seems to me that this suggested compromise is futile. Do not needlessly sacrifice trees but build this road on broad lines, remembering that this work is being done not for yourselves alone but for future generations.

Another objection has been made by certain conservative people, that by widening this road and making a handsome avenue the rabble and crowd of excursionists would be still more attracted to the beach. This reason seems to me to be entirely illogical. Do not forget that this beach is for all, rich and poor, high and humble, so long as they conduct themselves properly; but remember also that it has been administered in the past largely to appeal to the rabble rather than to self-respecting people. Improve and beautify this beach and make a suitable approach to it, and you will find that the better class of people, who have been inclined to shun both Bath road and the beach, will soon frequent them and that undesirable people will gradually disappear.

Still other people, admirers of old Newport, charmed with its traditions, are very jealous of any modernizing of the old city. I am entirely in harmony with this desire to preserve ancient traditions and to guard and protect all landmarks of historic interest when they are deserving. But, surely, Bath road has nothing of historic interest, no flavor of antiquity, to save it from improvement. The past lends charm and gives dignity to the present only as it enhances and enriches it.

It happens that my summer home is in the Beacon Hill district and from some points of view my interest lies in the improvement of that vicinity, but I am of those who believe that whatever improves Newport in any part, whatever adds to its beauty, its dignity or its charm, whatever makes for civic righteousness, is of benefit to all.

Sometime Bath road must be improved. Has not the time for discussion passed and the time for action come?

Respectfully yours,
Charles L. Baker.

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY.

Gifford Pinchot's Lecture on "The Conservation of Our National Resources."

Probably Newporters do not fully realize the opportunity which they are to have Monday in hearing Mr. Gifford Pinchot, formerly forester of the United States, speak on "The Conservation of Our National Resources." Born in Connecticut nearly 50 years ago, Mr. Pinchot was graduated from Yale in 1889 and studied forestry in France, Germany, Switzerland and Austria. He has received many degrees, honorary and otherwise, from Yale, Princeton, Michigan Agricultural College and McGill University. In 1890 he began on the Vanderbilt estate, Biltmore, N. C., the first systematic forestry work in the United Sates. In 1898 and 1908 the division of forestry under the Department of Agriculture was organized under his direction. In 1908, as head of the Public Lands Commission appointed by President Roosevelt, Mr. Pinchot made a careful examination of the public lands policy and at his suggestion the Inland Waterways Commission was formed and made one of the four sections of the National Conservation Commission.

As to the subject of the lecture, it is generally admitted that our material resources are threatened with exhaustion. The lands should be so used that erosion and wash shall cease, arid and semi-arid regions should be reclaimed by irrigation, waters should be conserved to promote navigation, forests should be preserved and profitably cut, minerals should be used to prolong utility, the spread of fire should be prevented by active patrol during dry weather, there should be reasonable but effective public regulation of timber cutting on forest land, whether publicly or privately owned; there should be a separation for the purpose of taxation of timber from the land, so that forest crop shall be taxed only when used, while land shall be taxed every year.

A JOINT INSTALLATION.

Officers of Lawton-Warren Post and Women's Relief Corps--Red Men Chiefs Raised to Stumps.

There was a joint installation of the recently elected officers of Lawton-Warren Post, No. 5, Grand Army of the Republic, and Lawton-Warren Women's Relief Corps Wednesday evening, and the double occasion served to fill Grand Army hall with the members of the two organizations and their friends. The officers-elect, who without exception were the former incumbents, were installed by Past Commander Edwin H. Tilley, Commander William S. Bailey announced the re-appointment of the following additional officers:

Adjutant—Charles H. Clarke.
Sergeant Major—John B. Mason.
Quartermaster Sergeant—William H. Crandall.

Later the officers-elect of the Women's Relief Corps, headed by Mrs. Ida McAuliffe as president, were installed by Mrs. Hattie Ford, formerly department president of Rhode Island and national installing officer, assisted by Mrs. Hattie Wheaton, a past department president.

Following the formal installations a collation was served and during a social hour there were brief remarks by the visiting officials, members of the Post and Corps and other visitors.

Among the visitors were Commander Timothy Sullivan, Quartermaster Charles Boldt and other members of Rear Admiral Charles M. Thomas Camp, Spanish War Veterans.

The new chiefs of Weenat Shassit Tribe, Improved Order of Red Men, were raised to their stumps Wednesday evening by Deputy Great Sachem Gorman, who came down the big stream for this now annual instead of semi-annual event. Following the business session there was a social, and in the dining room below a chowder was served. There was a good attendance.

ANNUAL CHURCH MEETING.

Members of the Union Congregational Answer to Roll-Call and Elect Officers.

The annual business meeting of the Union Congregational Church was held Wednesday evening, with a large number of members present to answer to the roll-call. The reports of the officers showed the church to be in a satisfactory condition, with excellent prospects under the guidance of the new pastor, Rev. Clifford L. Miller. The report of the treasurer, Mrs. M. A. Townsend, showed that the church raised $1,257.32 and expended $1,102.46 during the year, leaving a balance of $154.86 in the treasury, with a few outstanding bills. The following officers were elected:

Church Clerk—C. A. Battle.
Church Treasurer—William T. Berry.
Trustees—For three years, Joseph S. Forrester, Dr. M. Alonzo Van Horne, Edward O. Jackson; for one year, Dr. William H. Mathews.
Deacons—For five years, Jefferson Morrison; for one year, Joseph S. Forrester.
Sunday School Superintendent—Charles A. Battle.
Assistant Superintendent—Mrs. L. Miller.
Treasurer of Sunday School—Mrs. William T. Berry.

At the close of the meeting cocoa and crackers were served.

NO MORE FOR AERIAL FLEET.

House Committee Increases Aviators' Pay, But Not the Amount for New Machines.

Although it granted an increase of 59 per cent in the pay of the army aviators, the House military committee completed the army appropriation bill without increasing the amount for purchase and maintenance of aeroplanes from $100,000 carried in last year's bill. General James Allen, chief signal officer, recently declared that 100 machines and aviators were needed.

Strong recommendations for an increase were made by Secretary of War Stimson, but even the argument that Mexico has nearly twice as many aeroplanes as the United States army carried no weight with the committee.

Representative Hay of Virginia, the chairman, said that the committee, profiting by last year's experience, had decided to eliminate all legislative matters from the appropriation bill. It carries $93,836,177, against $90,970,466 last year. Mr. Hay explains the $3,000,000 increase by pointing out that there is a deficit of $2,800,000 in the pay and $1,000,000 in the subsistence accounts.

TO BE ALLOWED TO SLUMBER.

No Action on O'Shaunessy Resolution Unless Federal Prosecution Fails.

House Committee Unwilling to Hamper Department of Justice or Embarrass Congressmen.

No further action looking to an investigation of the New York, New Haven & Hartford and Grand Trunk railroads by a special committee of the House, as asked for by the resolution introduced in December by Congressman O'Shaunessy of Rhode Island, will be taken at this session of Congress unless it becomes clearly apparent that the Department of Justice is making a failure of its prosecution of the two roads in the federal courts. This was definitely settled when the Democratic members of the House committee on rules, before which the O'Shaunessy resolution is pending, agreed to let the resolution lie upon the table.

The agreement was purely informal and when the conference ended it was simply announced that no action had been taken. By this it was meant that the majority members of the committee refrained from an overt act, one way or the other. They did not vote to adopt the O'Shaunessy resolution, as originally drawn or in an amended form, nor did they vote to report adversely. The resolution has the same official status it had when it was referred to the committee. It may be acted upon at any time, but as a matter of fact it will not even be taken up for informal discussion at any meeting of the full committee.

The main reason for this decision on the part of Chairman Henry and the other Democrats was the indictment by the federal grand jury in New York of the officials of the two roads at which the resolution is aimed. They feel sincerely that to start a special Congressional investigation would hamper the work of the Department of Justice, since, with two branches of the government after them, the railroad officials, after testifying before the one branch, could plead immunity from appearing before the other. If the officials appeared before the Congressional committee, first and Attorney General Wickersham had some information not possessed by the committee, information upon which he might be able to base searching queries, that information would go to waste.

In the second place, the rules committee Democrats do not wish to go against Mr. O'Shaunessy, a fellow-Democrat, as they must do openly should they act upon their convictions that the House ought not to take up the New Haven and Grand Trunk matter while the Department of Justice has it in hand. Consequently, rather than report adversely against the O'Shaunessy resolution, they decided that they would take the easiest way out of it and simply let it slumber.

Mr. O'Shaunessy, when he learned of the action of his fellow-Democrats, took the matter philosophically. In a statement he said:

"Of course I have no criticism of the rules committee to make. I know they have given this matter their best attention. I have feared all along that the limited amount of time between now and the end of the session would operate against favorable action on the resolution. I realized also that the action of the federal grand jury in New York would act as a deterrent to a Congressional investigation.

"Still, by letting my resolution lie on the table the rules committee will be in a position to take action the moment it appears that the grand jury investigation has not developed the facts that the people of New England know ought to be developed. In any case I hope the situation will be properly cleared up. If it is, I shall not worry over the manner in which it is accomplished."

MISS GROSVENOR'S WEDDING.

Bishop Perry to Perform Ceremony at St. John's Church in Providence.

Arrangements have been completed for the wedding of Miss Rose Pinkney Grosvenor, daughter of Mrs. William Grosvenor, to Mr. George Peabody Gardner, Jr. The marriage will take place in St. John's Church, Providence, at noon Tuesday, January 28 and will be followed by a wedding breakfast for the family at the home of Mrs. Grosvenor, which is to be as quiet an affair as the large family connection will permit.

The ceremony will be performed by Rt. Rev. James DeWolf Perry, Bishop of Rhode Island, who will be assisted by Rev. Francis B. Boyer of New Bedford, Mass., and Rev. Dr. William G. Thayer of Southboro, Mass. Miss Grosvenor will be attended by Miss Eleanor Roelker as the maid of honor and by her sister, Miss Anita D. Grosvenor, and Miss Frederika Paine.

THE MATERNITY HOSPITAL BALL.

The patronesses for the fancy dress ball to be given at Sherry's in New York this evening for the benefit of the Maternity Hospital, are Mrs. Frederick M. Davies, Mrs. Ernest Iselin, Mrs. Paulding Fosdick, Mrs. Oliver Gould Jennings and Mrs. Austen Gray, who will receive the guests. The small ballroom will be set aside for a cabaret performance, with professional dancers, and Neapolitan singers will be heard in the main dining room during the supper hours, from midnight to 2 a. m. The dancing in the big ballroom will be continued with no intermission. Many dinners are announced in connection with this entertainment, to which the hostesses will afterward take on their guests.

Adds wholesomeness to the food.
Cleveland's
Baking Powder
A plain cake, made with Cleveland's Baking Powder, is better than a pound cake costing twice as much made with an alum powdet.
Cleveland's Baking Powder is pure, clean and wholesome, and with less trouble and concern makes the cake lighter, sweeter, purer, more appetizing and beautiful and assuredly wholesome.
Take every precaution to avoid alum baking powders, as alum in food is deleterious. They may be known by their lower price.

IF YOUTH BUT KNEW.

[E. C. Stedman.]

When the veil from the eyes is lifted,
The seer's head is gray;
When the sailor to shore has drifted,
The sirens are far away.
Why must the clearer vision,
The wisdom of Life's late hour,
Come, as in Fate's derision,
When the hand has lost its power?
Is there a rarer being,
Is there a fairer sphere,
Where the strong are not unseeing,
And the harvests are not sere?
Where, ere the seasons dwindle,
They yield their full return;
Where the lamps of knowledge kindle
While the flames of youth still burn?
Oh, for the young man's chances!
Oh, for the old man's will!
Those flee while this advances,
And the strong years cheat us still.

PERSONALS.

....The late Vice President James S. Sherman left an estate valued at $370,075, according to the report of the transfer tax appraiser. This is made up of personal property. The debts and expenses amounted to $46,429 and the net balance goes to Mrs Sherman.

....The London Chronicle announces the discovery of interesting manuscripts of John Wesley among the archives at the Wesleyan headquarters in London. These include many letters and a complete diary of the last 10 years of Wesley's life, written in shorthand.

....Painting of a portrait of President-elect Wilson may occupy much of his time for sitting between now and March 4, as it is understood that the portrait is to be ready to hang in the White House soon after inauguration. William M. Chase, one of many portrait painters who have sought the opportunity, has received the commission to paint the portrait.

....Brother Hugolinus, a Franciscan monk, who for more than a quarter of a century had lived at the Santa Barbara Mission, Cal., and was one of the most frequently photographed persons in the world, is dead. His figure has appeared in thousands of photographs of the Santa Barbara Mission. Photographs of him, taken there with such persons as William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt were widely published.

....William Phillips, first secretary of the American embassy in London who is now on leave of absence until next August, has been appointed regent of Harvard University during his leave from the State Department. Mr. Phillips, who has been in the diplomatic service several years, was graduated from Harvard in 1900 and studied in the Harvard Law School until March, 1903, when he went to London as private secretary to Joseph H. IN THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

The annual message of Governor Pothier to the legislature may fairly be called a progressive document, although it naturally is not different in many respects from previous addresses of the kind by the present state executive to that body. No man can continue in this office several years without of necessity repeating in his inaugurals some of his recommendations. This is partly due to the fact that the same reforms claim his attention until they are ordered by the legislative body, and partly because the number of departments is comparatively small and they are conducted largely along the same lines from year to year, so that the bulk of the recommendations must be of a more or less similar nature.

This year's message, as was to be expected, places most emphasis upon those matters to which the Republican party, which holds the majority power in the legislature, is pledged by its leaders and its convention. Three of these are of special importance, the holding of a convention for the revision of the constitution of the state, the enactment of a 54-hour law for women and minors, and the creation of a board of arbitration and conciliation for the settlement of labor troubles. Even without the attention given these subjects in the governor's inaugural address it is to be expected that the legislature at this session will take some action upon them. The Republicans are solemnly pledged to do this and it would be a complete repudiation of these promises if the legislative body in which they hold the balance of power should not do what the people are expecting it to do and what it is bound to do if it is to maintain its self-respect.

The need of a revision of the constitution is recognized by all classes of citizens without regard to political complexion or belief. Until recently the Democrats alone were advocating this movement, while the Republicans were refusing to sanction such action, but now this party, too, has come to regard a revision of the fundamental law of the state as a necessity and has consented to allow it to be done. That the holding of a constitutional convention is the best means of making the changes necessary has also been a bone of contention between the two parties, but they are at last agreed upon this point. Hence there seems to be no possible opportunity for failure to bring about this important procedure and the required legislation will undoubtedly be passed at the session of the General Assembly now opened.

The reduction in the number of hours in each week during which women and minors should be allowed to work is another matter on which there has been radical disagreement between the two parties. They are now united on this point also and there is every reason to expect that at this session of the legislature laws will be passed which will limit the working time of women and children to 54 hours each week. In taking this action this state will be putting itself at last on a par with others which have adopted laws of this kind, and showing that it has regard for the welfare of these classes of laborers whose working time should be curtailed in the interest of health and heredity.

The creation of a board of arbitration and conciliation will also be welcomed by both parties and by all sorts of people. Labor troubles are among the most disastrous which can occur in any state, and though Rhode Island is perhaps freer from them than could fairly be expected, considering the extent of the manufacturing done here, there are sufficient of them and they affect production and business seriously enough to warrant any action which will curtail these troubles and tend toward a speedy and amicable settlement of differences of opinion regarding wages, hours or other features of the relations of employer and employe. This is another question on which all parties are agreed and the enactment of laws creating such a body and defining its composition and duties is expected to be one of the first actions of the Assembly in the passing of new legislation.

These are the most weighty matters touched upon in the message of Governor Pothier and they merit careful attention and early action.

AT FOUR SCORE YEARS AND TEN.

It is permitted to all old men, in moderation, to contrast the existing period unfavorably with the past. The young expect that and do not mind it at all. The "old fossils" rather amuse them, if they are not insistent enough to be irritating. Still, Dr. Alfred J Wallace, the distinguished scientist, rather exceeds the speed limit when he looks back over 90 years and sees no improvement, morally, intellectually or in any way. We may, however, suspect him of being less a pessimist than he professes to be, for he would dissuade us from worrying over the future and regards the outlook as hopeful.

It is quite likely, as he says, that man has made no intellectual progress since the dawn of history 7,000 years ago; he has enlarged his stock of information, but his intellectual capacity has not increased. Certainly we are not equal to the Greeks in art and it is a commonplace remark that nobody is now writing plays equal to Shakespeare's. Yet no rational man can doubt the moral progress of the world in 7,000 years or 2,000, or 100. No one should permit the existence of poverty to blind him to the notorious fact that the rank and file of the people, the workers, are better fed and clothed than they were in the year when Dr. Wallace was born, and on the whole they are better housed, though the congestion of urban population leaves something to be said on the other side of this. The abolition of slavery in the past 2,000 years is a long step in advance.

In applying the doctrine of evolution John Fiske suggested that the human animal improved physically till the point was reached where intellectual advance would do more for him than a further increase of size and strength, and then developed intellectually until the point was reached where moral improvement was more important to him than intellectual. History began near the end of the period of intellectual growth, and for some centuries past there has been no further brain development, but there has certainly been a development of the moral sense, and a great expansion of human sympathies during the ninety years that Dr. Wallace has been watching events march past him.

A DEFENSE OF DYNAMITE.

Gompers may believe that his friends the dynamiters were innocent of the charges against them; that is within the rights of every mind, no matter how erratic or prejudiced. Yet he has no right whatever to argue before the Senate committee, that they were justified by the treatment they had received in resorting to explosives, and that is precisely what he did.

Slave laborers, or the victims of a Russian absolutism, might be excused for resorting to violence. It is perfect nonsense, or rather it is criminal, to insist that these members of the Iron Workers' Union were so crushed and maltreated by employers and by the capitalist class and by all organized society that they were justified in resorting to dynamite. His line of argument will not bear a moment's examination. If he thinks it will, let him lay aside his rhetoric and give us in plain language a statement of the oppressions, abuses and persecutions to which these men had been subjected which palliated, even, their resort to explosives.

Gompers's speech was made in support of a demand for a further legislative restriction of the right of the courts to issue injunctions in labor disputes, a right which organized labor has been bitterly attacking for years. A legitimate criticism of the injunctions is that for disorderly acts men ought to be tried by juries, and not punished by courts by summary process for contempt. The labor unions do not stop with the punishment for contempt; they denounce the injunctions themselves.

As a matter of fact, have there been injunctions which forbade the men they addressed from doing anything which they had a right to do? With perhaps two or three instances, has any injunction forbidden anything except the doing of violence to property or the exercise of violence or menace of violence to individuals? Will Gompers stand up before the country and say frankly that the men have a right and ought to be permitted to do the things which they are enjoined from doing? In a very few cases men have been enjoined from trying to dissuade others from working, but in nearly every instance the acts enjoined are of an entirely different character.

Evidently the members of the General Assembly have already entered upon a determined contest for political advantage. The controversy between the Republican and Democratic leaders began early, and is likely to continue. It ought not to be allowed to interfere with the consideration and passage of necessary legislation, but it looks as if it might.

Though it is reported in Paris that the European powers have practically reached an agreement to advise Turkey to yield on the question of Adrianopole, they are said to be still at odds concerning the disposition of the Aegean islands. Great Britain, France and Russia, forming the Triple Entente, favor the demand of the allies that the islands be ceded to Greece, while Germany, Austria and Italy, the Triple Alliance, would leave Turkey those near the Turkish coast, particularly those near the Dardanelles. These matters settled, little would remain which need postpone peace.

The movement to form a business mens' association or board of trade to boom the interests of Newport will meet favor among all classes of citizens, and it is well that there should be but one organization and no clashing among rival associations. One organization can better represent the city, but it should be representative of all interests.

As was to be expected, later reports of the damage to the California orange and lemon crops by the recent cold snap show the first estimates to have been largely exaggerated. It is now said that not more than 30 per cent of the fruit has been materially damaged. That is enough.

The advocates of woman suffrage in Michigan are not discouraged by the failure of the people in November to approve the maendment, there being only a few hundred votes short of the number necessary to carry. A resolution has already been introduced in the legislature to re-submit the matter at the spring election.

MIDDLETOWN.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Mrs. George Coggeshall of Greene's lane has been ill since the beginning of the year with a severe attack of the grip. Her sister, Mrs. Joshua Coggeshall of the West Main road, was taken sick this week with the same disease.

The Paradise Club had a small meeting Tuesday, with Mrs. Joseph A. Peckham, in spite of the bad weather. The program was but partially carried out, owing to many absences. The president, Mrs. William C. Hubbell, was not able to attend, not having wholly recovered from the grip. Light refreshments were served.

Two large trees were blown over on Greene's lane and one in the Oliphant school yard, besides a large flag-staff on Wapping road, as a result of the recent gale.

Mrs. William M. Hughes has been confined to the house the past week by illness.

Mr. Edward E. Peckham writes from Eustis, Fla., that the orange crop there is very large, estimated at 5,000,000 boxes. Thirty-five new houses were built in the vicinity of his bungalow between the time of his return to Middletown last spring and his going south again in November, and more dwellings are now in process of erection near them.

The Pan-American Union, Washington, has presented the Oliphant Club with two books, one handsomely illustrated, concerning the formation of the Union. The second is on South America. A third book has recently been received by the president from Senor Don Ickazio Calderon of the legation of Bolivia at Washington, which he has written on Bolivia.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Mrs. May, who has been spending the past six weeks with her son, Mr. Louis May and family, in Brooklyn, returned to her home with Mrs. William Burke of Bristol Ferry Wednesday.

Miss Cora Mitchel of Bristol Ferry, who has been for a number of weeks in Brooklyn, is spending a fortnight with friends in Ridgeway, N. J. She will join a party going to California during the fourth week in January and will spend the winter at Riverside.

Rev. Angan B. Howard, who went to Providence early in the week, has been seized with a serious cold and did not think it prudent to return to give his Bible lecture Wednesday evening.

In the recent storm, a large and tall oak tree, just north of the "Oakland Farm" house, which has for a number of years had a fishhawkk's nest built in it, was blown down. Several other trees on the farm and at St. Mary's were also blown down.

A large yellow dog, while going along the main road early in the week, attacked a Portuguese, biting him and tearing his clothes badly. No one seemed to know where or to whom the dog belonged.

Mr. Joseph Bent Souza lost a valuable horse from colic this week.

Before the recent rainy spell, a number of farmers were plowing for early planting, taking advantage of the mild weather to forward their spring work.

Mrs. Enos, formerly a resident here and mother of Mr. Roscoe F. Levens of this town, is seriously ill at her home in East Providence. She spent Christmas with her son and family in this town.

Mrs. Israel Criswell, mother of Mrs. Oscar Levens, formerly of this town, is quite ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William H. Thomas, in Newport.

Mr. Joseph Branston and his twin daughters, Laura and Annie, of Globe village, who have been visiting relatives in this town, have returned home. At 6 A. M., the thermometer in Newtown village stood at 10 degrees above zero.

PIKE'S PEAK NOT THE HIGHEST.

What is the highest mountain in Colorado? "Pikes Peak." 10 persons out of 20 will answer, and incorrectly. The twentieth may know that the two highest mountains in the state are Mount Massive and Mount Elbert, both in Lake county, in the Leadville district. The altitude of each of these mountains, according to the United States Geological Survey, is 14,402 feet above sea level. The height of Pikes Peak is 14,108 feet. Moreover, there are 50 or 60 other peaks in Colorado approximately as high—over 14,000 feet. The lowest point in Colorado is 3,350 feet above sea level. Of all the states Colorado has the highest average altitude, estimated by the Geological Survey at 6,800 feet.

Although not the highest mountain, Pikes Peak is probably the best-known peak in the United States. There was at one time a Weather Bureau station on its summit, and it now has a substantial railway station at the terminus of the highest railway line in North America. It can also be reached by an excellent wagon road and trail which connect the summit with Colorado Springs.

Providence Protective Department to Discontinue Its Operations.

Scituate Schools Closed for Lack of Money—Bishop McVickar Memorial Hall.

The Providence Protective Department will be discontinued after next Saturday. Its operations are to be brought to a close after 37 years of active service, and its discontinuance is due largely to the refusal of the city to take over the equipment and conduct it as a part of the Providence fire department. For six months past negotiations have been under way between the city council committee on finance and the executive board of the Protective Department. Favorable reports on the adoption of the Protectives by the city were made by the finance committee, but at a session of the city council the project was turned down. Under an agreement which the Protective Department had with the city, the board of fire commissioners furnished horses, a driver and gasoline for the automobile, while the Protective Department furnished the equipment and men. Early last year the Providence Protective Department voted to discontinue after June 30, but a request made by the committee on finance asked that the discontinuance of the service be deferred until the city officials could confer relative to taking over the department. The Protective Department agreed to turn over the entire department with its equipment, without cost, and further to furnish the city $10,000 to maintain it, if the Providence fire department would take up its management.

Five hundred children are out of school and 19 teachers are thrown out of employment because the town of Scituate has not re-opened its schools since closing for the Christmas vacation. There is no prospect of re-opening until action has been taken by the taxpayers in a special town meeting looking toward the provision of the money. Officials of the town and people interested in the schools declare that the deplorable conditions which exist are due to a number of causes, but that bad management of the town affairs is the chief. There is no money in the treasury at the present time and no prospects of securing any, except by a special tax assessment, until the annual financial town meeting in January. The town, which has an annual budget to meet of from $10,000 to $12,000, had only $1,800 to begin the year on and only about half the taxes have been paid for this year. Even if some of the delinquent taxpayers should act immediately, it is said, the money would be claimed by holders of notes which soon fall due. It has been customary in the past for the town to borrow money to tide it over light places and the holders of some of these notes are clamoring for their money and must be paid before many days and the schools must wait.

Plans for the new Bishop McVickar Memorial Hall for St. Andrew's Industrial School at Barrington, providing for a handsome structure, have been completed. It is expected that work on the building will be started in the early spring. In accord with the often expressed desire of the late bishop the new hall will provide for the education of lads under 10 years of age, an accommodation which the present facilities at the school do not furnish. It, in fact, will mean the establishment of a lower school for boys between the ages of six and 10 years. The building will cost $15,000, and $37,000 has been raised of a $50,000 fund, which was stipulated upon for the erection and endowment of the school. The hall will be a three-story structure with a basement, and the plans provide that it conform in style as near as possible and feasible to the present buildings of the school. There will be a hospital, dormitories and all other arrangements, in keeping with the modern laws of sanitation and ventilation.

R. A. Harrington, who for the past six years has been the lessee and manager of Crescent Park, has relinquished his lease of that resort, which will be opened next summer, it is understood, under new management. The lease held by Mr. Harrington was for 10 years, six of which have already passed. Papers will change hands by which his interest in the lease will revert to the Hope Land Company, by which the property is owned. Mr. Harrington gives as his reason for giving over the management of the park the fact that it has not in the years he has had control proved popular enough among pleasure seekers to warrant holding the lease four more years. It is understood that the resort will be leased to Charles Loof, who has been for several years in business at the park.

Dr. Samuel Bates Grubbs, ex-chief quarantine officer of Porto Rico, United States Health Service, has arrived in Providence to become chief health officer of the port, succeeding Dr. John M. Dager, who was transferred to Portland, Maine, some time since. Dr. Grubbs was the chief health officer in Porto Rico, with his headquarters at San Juan, for the last four years, and during that time had some interesting experiences with the plague. Previous to taking the Porto Rican post he was on leave of absence for a year, during which time he studied the throat and ear. He has been in the health service of the United States for the past 15 years, or since he was graduated from the medical department of Columbia University in New York city; has seen service in Chicago and St. Louis, and was for some time in the quarantine service on the Gulf of Mexico. For two years he was stationed in France in the interests of the immigration department, spending part of the time in Havre and part in Paris. He was also sent to Mexico for a short time. During the Spanish-American war he was stationed in Cuba, and was working in the districts where there was a great deal of yellow fever.

The results of the latest study conducted by the Russell Sage Foundation are made public in bulletin 124 of the Foundation's Division of Education under the title "A Comparative Study of State School Systems in the Forty-Eight States." According to this report, the school system of Rhode Island takes eleventh place in general efficiency among the systems of the 48 states of the Union. Some of the disclosures made in the report are of striking significance. Rhode Island has the longest school year of any state—193 days—but if these 193 days of schooling were divided equally among the children of school age in the state the result would be 116 days of schooling each. The report terms this the "effective school year," and compares the 48 states on that basis. In nearly a quarter of the states the effective school year is less than three months. As a nation, the United States has a shorter school day, a shorter school week, and a shorter school year than any other highly civilized country in the world.

With impressive ceremony, elaborate music by a large male choir and the service of Communion, Grace Church, Providence, celebrated one of the most notable events in its history—that of the consecration of the new chancel and chapel and dedication of the parish house. Hundreds of members of the parish hand attendants of other churches witnessed the ceremony. More than 50 eminent clergymen of the Protestant Episcopal faith, the number including practically every rector in the diocese, participated in the event, either by act or presence. In the number were five of the former rectors of the church. One of them, Rt. Rev. David H. Greer, Bishop of New York, delivered the sermon of consecration. The other former clergymen were Rev. C. G. Currie, D. D., of Philadelphia, Rev. Floyd W. Tomkins, D. D., of Philadelphia, Very Rev. Edmund S. Rousmaniere, D. D., of Boston, and Rev. Charles H. Babcock, D. D., of New York. The service of consecration and dedication was read by Rt. Rev. J. De Wolf Perry, Bishop of Rhode Island.

The Rhode Island supreme court, through Judge Sweetland, has handed down an opinion in the Westerly license case in which Harvey C. Perry of that town asked the court to review and quash the action of the town council in declaring that the town had voted in favor of granting licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors by two majority. The opinion of the court revises the count of the town council and leaves the vote a tie. Because a majority of the voters had not voted against the granting of licenses, however, the court decides that the licenses granted to liquor dealers following the announcement of the result by the town council are valid. Thus the court's decision grants the petition of Mr. Perry to quash the record made by the town council, but leaves the practical result upon the granting of licenses in the town unchanged.

The First Light Infantry Regiment of Providence has voted to instruct its board of officers to make a contract with the Infantry Armory Corporation to purchase the property of the Jefferson Street Baptist Church and have the building re-modeled for armory purposes. The regiment appointed a special committee on ways and means to secure a new armory for the command some four years ago and the matter has been under consideration since. The fund has grown gradually until it is now of a size which warrants the new move.

Rev. G. L. Michelson, pastor of the Quidnessett Baptist Church of Davisville, has presented his resignation, to take effect February 1. The step is prompted by the advice of physicians, on account of the health of his wife, the climatic conditions not being favorable to her. While undecided as to what he will do, he has under favorable consideration a call extended by the Lonsdale Baptist Church to become its pastor. This church has been without a regular pastor since the resignation of Rev. George W. Rigler last September.

THE DAILY NEWS INSPECTED.

Girls From Coddington School View Mechanical Working of the Newspaper.

The usual routine of The Daily News press and composing rooms was somewhat changed Wednesday afternoon, when Mr. Dudley E. Campbell, principal of the Coddington school, with a following of about 25 girls from grade IX appeared, right out of the rain, to see how the press and linotypes worked. It appears that the pupils are to write a composition and Mr. Campbell thought it would help their thoughts and quicken their ideas if they were given something to write about which might excite some interest in the young minds. A newspaper was selected as the theme, and this party was the first to be brought in to see just what is done and how it is done.

The weather did not really favor, but the girls did not seem at all disturbed by the rain, and once inside seemed quick to learn what they could about the mechanical working of a newspaper. After the press room and the working of the press had been viewed, the girls had a view of the composing room and the working of the linotypes, the telegraph office, the wireless and other things.

There will be other similar expeditions to gain knowledge from personal observation, and it is probable that the others will have better weather, but it is a question if there will be any party more observant, or well behaved, or more anxious to learn al they could than that first expedition of girls in the rain.

TWO STILL ALARMS.

Chemical 1 and Hose 4 were called to the Mile Corner district by a still alarm at 5:23 Wednesday afternoon, for a fire in the automobile of Benjamin Newton. Things had gone wrong while the machine was on Broadway, just beyond Vernon avenue. The operator ran to the Bay State car barn to telephone a still. The barn fire squad responded with an extinguisher, and then the trolley express car and its crew went to work. Later the Fours, making big time, and the Chemical with one horse, about all in, arrived. The fire was out when the real firemen arrived. The machine is in need of repairs.

At 10:50 this morning Chemical 1 and Hose 5 attended a pure, unadulterated Shimney fire at the residence of Rev. Stanley C. Hughes on Touro street. No damage was done and it was a short run for the Fives, just out of the door.

STILL SWEARING AT THE CITY HALL.

They are still swearing to obey the laws and properly carry on their several offices at the City Hall. Among the latest are John M. Taylor, city treasurer; E. W. Higbee, collector of taxes; Robert C. Bacheller, School Committeeman; Francis A. Keenan, city physician; John C. Burke, probate judge; William H. Lawton, city engineer, Maurice J. Butler and Philip E. Clark, overseers of the poor; John J. Connell, sealer of weights and measures and inspector of kerosene; Jeremiah O'Leary and Thomas Donohue, gate keepers, and George M. Simpson, keeper of clocks.

BREAULT RELEASED UNDER REDUCED BAIL.

The bail in the case of Felix Breault, overseer of the Shove mill, who was held in the Newport County jail on the warrant served on him January 1, having been reduced to $5,000 on the larceny charge and $1,000 on the receiving stolen good charge, he was Wednesday night released from jail, bail having been found by his counsel, F. H. Morgan of this city and John W. Dunn of Fall River were the bondsman. It was thought bat Breault would be obliged to stay in jail until the case came up, but the reduction in the amount made it possible to secure bail.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mrs. J. A. Swan has gone to New York on a visit.

—Mr. John H. Mustard, owing to illness, is confined at home.

—The underwriters were here today, to adjust the losses on fishing steamer Hattie and fishing sloop Dauntless.

—The Father Mathew Society will have a ball in the society's hall February 8, for the benefit of the building fund.

—Tug Solicitor Wednesday towed from Wickford a lighter load of spiles for the foundation of the new Armour building.

—Mrs. William M. Small of Baltimore, Md., is guest of Mrs. Johnson, wife of Surgeon Mortimer K. Johnson at the Torpedo Station.

—Captain Kelly's fishing sloop Priscilla has completed repairs at Williams & Manchester's yard, and so has Captain Champion's launch H. M. Champion.

—The house recently occupied by the Biscuit Company is being moved temporarily off its location on Long wharf, to allow the work of preparing for the new Armour building to proceed.

—Mr. J. Powell Cozzens of the Newport Trust Company, who was unable to attend the meetings of the Representative Council Monday on account of illness, is still confined to his home, although considerably improved.

—The Lenthal teachers expect a large attendance Friday evening at Masonic Hall and hope all intending to play whist will be ready to begin at 8 o'clock. The dancing will also be a feature of the entertainment.

—Fishing schooners Tecumseh and Yankee and tugboat Pilny Fiske are tied up at Perry Mill wharf. There are a number of light barges in port. All the local fishermen are in, waiting for better weather.

—The Board of Aldermen of 1913 will hold its first real meeting this evening. The Committee of Twenty-Five will also meet for organization, and probably to talk over the distribution of the preliminary work.

—Wednesday night on his way home Sergeant Schneider found an old man at the Trust Company's building, who was evidently overcome by the weather. As he seemed to need aid, he had him taken to his home in the patrol.

—As had been expected, the squash pie contest at the skating rink Wednesday evening proved amusing, and the large crowd in attendance greatly enjoyed the efforts of each competitor to finish eating his pie ahead of the others. Mr. Charles Norbett won the prize, in six minutes.

—New Bedford has just learned that Dr. John J. Cotter of New York has been married 12 years and has two children, one 10 years and one eight years old. This may also be news to his many friends in this city. Perhaps he will be better remembered as "Jack" Cotter, captain and first baseman of the 1895 base ball team. When he makes his annual visit to his sister in New Bedford he usually stops here for a visit to ex-Mayor Boyle.

TO OPEN AT 8:30 INSTEAD OF 8.

Dry Goods Establishments to Try the Experiment for Four Months.

Movement Expected to be Joined by Many Other Stores in Different Lines.

Beginning next Monday morning, the dry goods stores will open at 8:30 instead of 8 o'clock. The change will be welcome to the clerks and the proprietors can see no inconvenience to the public, as soon as it becomes generally understood. The volume of business done before 8 o'clock has for years amounted to nothing, and while perhaps the opening has not perhaps been at a loss, as is keeping open evenings when there is no trade and lights must be burned, the proprietors have come to the conclusion that it is a useless effort. Times change and in days gone by, it was necessary that the clerks arrive early, to sweep the floors, clean the windows and do other work now done by a janitor force.

Some of the dealers have felt for some time that they would like to make the change, but all did not feel that they were prepared and so none made it. This winter the talk revived, but it took the governor's message to clinch the matter. The governor spoke of the 54-hour law in other states in such a way that the dealers here at least imagined they could see the handwriting on the wall, and so it has been agreed by all the big houses to make the change before the law forces them to do so. The establishments in the agreement are the Boston Store, the Bee Hive, the Century, the Lappin and the Sherman.

As the change up to the time The News goes to press is known to but few there has been no opportunity for stores in other lines to say what they propose to do, but it will not be in the least surprising if the wave spreads. Experience has shown that what the dry goods stores do the others do also, because the former are the magnets, which draw out the shoppers, and if they are closed the others find it desirable also.

The trial is to be made for four months, and then it will be determined whether it will be continued or there will be an earlier opening during the summer.

MISS MARY E. RICHMOND.

Former Resident of Newport and Last of Her Family Dead in Brookline, Mass.

News was received here today of the death in Brookline, Mass., of Miss Mary E. Richmond, formerly of this city, aged 82 years. She lived for many years with her brother and sister, the late George A. Richmond and the late Miss Martha B. Richmond, in the family house on the corner of Thames and Ann streets, which formerly had a large garden on the opposite side of Thames street, reaching to the harbor and was one of the largest estates in that vicinity. They were the owners of considerable other property on Thames street and on Ruggles, Coggeshall and Carroll avenues, the larger part of which had been disposed of to various purchasers.

Miss Mary Richmond was the last of the family, her brother having died many years ago and her sister more recently. She had lived for a number of years in Massachusetts. For many years she was a member of the United Congregational Church, with which also the family had been connected.

THE COLD SPELL HERE.

Follows the Clearing of the Rain Storm, With a Drop from Summer to Winter Temperature.

The rain storm finally passed away and the cold spell arrived. When the rain seased it had not been much until Wednesday morning, .62 of an inch had fallen and the ground was well wet, so that the frost could strike in. Immediately after the rain the temperature began to fall and the wind to rise and the cold spell was on, though it was well along toward 10 before it was really apparent. At 7:30 the temperature was 33; at 10:30 it was down to 28 and ice was forming, but it did not feel cold.

The temperature continued to drop steadily until this morning about 7, when it stood at 16. It was at the same mark at 2, and then began slowly to ascend. This gave a drop of 23 degrees from the same hour Wednesday. At noon the mark was 22 below the previous noon record and at 2 this afternoon it was 24 degrees colder than at the same hour Wednesday. This is a good deal of a drop from almost summer conditions to winter, though a rather mild sort of winter. It was not disagreeable, though it was rather cool.

The green grass has taken a vacation on its growing habits, which were running along as usual Wednesday. The grass is still green, though the ground is frozen.

The small boy and girl had a chance to do some sliding where the puddles were Wednesday and there are many such places. The wind blew so hard that the ponds are not frozen over.

There was a little hail, for a change from the usual rain about 5 o'clock Wednesday but it was very little—only enough for a record.

TO BE APPOINTED BY GOVERNOR.

Provision for State Highway Board Introduced in Legislature.

AUGUSTA, Maine, Jan. 9.—Provision for the creation of a state highway board of three members, to be appointed by the governor, is made in a bill introduced in the legislature by Representative J. P. Scates of Westbrook today.

The board, with the consent of the governor and council, is empowered to select a state highway engineer and such other engineers, supervisors and assistants as are required, and to have charge of the expenditure of funds and the construction of highways. The board and the governor and council are constituted as an equalizing board to see that all money under the bond issue of $2,000,000, already authorized for road building, is equitably expended in the several counties.

The bill is the result of a year's constant study of highway problems and its framers declare that two objects have been kept in view: first, the elimination of politics, and second, the adoption of a method that will prevent wasteful expenditures.

An act to provide for the creation of drainage districts by the state water storage commission, the supervision of the construction of dams and the control and regulation of storage reservoirs was presented by Representative Wheeler of Paris.

SOCIAL GIVEN BY THE MEN.

Address and Musical Selections Entertain Members of the Parish of St. George's.

The parlors of St. George's Church were well filled Wednesday evening for the social given by the men of the parish. The purpose was to bring together in a social way, for mutual acquaintance and helpfulness, the members and friends of the parish.

Rev. Levi B. Edwards, rector of the Church of the Transfiguration, Edgewood, was present and told about his recent trip around the world. He was particularly interested in his visits in India and China, having many amusing incidents to relate. Rev. Mr. Edwards had a delightful manner of delivery, which seemed to please everybody. In addition to the address piano selections were rendered by Mr. C. Leroy Grinnell and violin selections by Louis Anderson, accompnied by his sister, Miss Bessie Anderson.

After the address and the musical selections, refreshments were served by a committee including Mr. David Caesar, Mr. Samuel W. Marsh, Mr. John Davis, Mr. Peter King and a number of others. There was also an opportunity for meeting the speaker, Rev. Mr. Edwards, who told in a conversational way about his experiences in the Far East.

MACHINISTS PRESENT PROTEST.

Assistant Secretary Winthrop Promises to Take Up the Torpedo Station Wage Question.

Delegations representing workmen at the New York navy yard and the Torpedo Station here, Mr. Archie B. Luther being the representative of the latter, called upon Acting Secretary of the Navy Winthrop Wednesday to protest against the proposed reduction in the pay of caulkers and electricians at these stations. Representatives Calder and Fitzgerald of New York accompanied the delegation. Mr. Winthrop told the delegation to submit the protest in writing and promised to take up the question with the wage boards at New York and Newport.

The local machinists met Wednesday evening, when a secret ballot was taken on the question of endeavoring to enforce favorable consideration of their grievances regarding the new schedule of wages at the Torpedo Station. There was a large attendance and many questions regarding the new scale were discussed at length. The result of the ballot will not be announced for several days. It is expected that an officer of the International Association of Machinists will come to Newport to consider the local situation.

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Lighter Archer has landed at Ferry wharf lumber for local builders.

Conanicut Council, Royal Arcanum, held its regular meeting Wednesday evening, three applications for membership being received.

This was the coldest morning of the winter, the thermometer registered 12 above. The ponds are nearly full of water and with two weeks of this weather the local dealers would have plenty of ice.

Miss Hicks of Portsmouth, was in town today.

Mr. Preston Peckham has received a valuable pair of gray horses from Boston.

Miss Helen Tefft, who has been visiting her grandfather, has returned to her home in North Dartmouth, Mass.

Mr. George Wales's youngest child was taken to the Newport Hospital today.

Miss Mary Briggs of Newport is spending the day with her mother on Narragansett avenue.

Miss Kathryn Anthony is visiting in Portsmouth.

Mr. R. W. Curry was in town today, overseeing the work on the Admiral Marshall cottage, on which he has nearly completed a large addition.

A. O'D. Taylor has rented for Edward L. Spencer his furnished cottage on the south side of Bryer avenue to Cheever N. Ely of New York for the coming season. Mr. Ely's family are new-comers to Jamestown.

BUSINESS MEN'S DINNER BOOMING.

A gratifying response has been received to the invitations to the business men's dinner to be given Friday evening by the Young Men's Christian Association and the attendance of a large and influential body of men is assured. The committee has arranged with Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wahl to serve the dinner. Those receiving invitations are at liberty to secure plates for business friends who may have been overlooked in the difficult task of issuing invitations, and tickets ordered will be awaiting guests at the dining hall.

PRESERVATION OF LIFE EXTRA-CORPOREALLY.

Dr. Alexis Carel of the Rockefeller Institute, New York, winner of the Nobel price for medicine, has made the first announcement through Professor Pozzi to the Academy of Medicine, Paris, of the result of his latest and most remarkable experiment in the preservation of life extra-corporeally. This consited of removing from a cat al the thoracic and abdominal organs and placing them in a box containing a solution of artificial serum maintained at a heat of 38 degrees centigrade (100.4 Fahrenheit). Dr. Carrel succeeded in keeping hte organs working normally during 13 hours after death. Animal food and water placed in the stomach were completed digested; the heart beats were strong andregular, the circulation perfect and the intestines showed peristaltic contraction.

TODAY'S FUNERALS.

Services for Mrs. Elizabeth Sullivan, Hannah Malgan and Mrs. William D. Betty.

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Sullivan took place from her late residence on Tilden avenue this morning at 8:30 to St. Joseph's Church, where Rev. Father McLoughlin celebrated a mass of requiem for the repose of her soul. The interment was at St. Columba cemetery, the bearers being Patrick Kirby, Patrick J. Lyons, John J. Sullivan and William Sullivan.

The funeral of Hannah Malgan, widow of Daniel Malgan, was held from St. Mary's Church this morning. Rev. Father Ryan celebrated a solemn high mass of requiem, with Rev. Father Meenan as deacon and Rev. Father Hines as sub-deacon. The interment was in St. Mary's cemetery, Thomas F. Martin, Patrick Shea, Michael Brennan and Timothy J. Sullivan acting as bearers.

Mrs. Betty, widow of William D. Betty, was also buried this morning from St. Mary's, Father Meenan acting as celebrant. Some handsome floral tributes were placed on the grave in St. Columba cemetery. The bearers were John Harrington, John C. Sullivan, William H. Corcoran, Philip Gillis, Patrick J. Murphy, Edward McCarthy, Thomas H. Reagan and John Dwyar.

WAS THREE MINUTES LATE.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Called to Account by Watchman.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Sherman Allen, assistant Secretary of the Treasury, was three minutes late in reporting for duty today and was sharply called to account by a watchman of the Treasury Department. Appearing leisurely at a side door of the building, the tardy official was commanded to produce his "card" in order that it might be marked "late." He endeavored to appease the government's man with the statement: "I am assistant Secretary Allen."

"Oh, they all say that," was the impatient retort. "You may make your explanations at the main door of the building."

The assistant Secretary was forced to enlist the influence of a watchman of wider acquaintance and was finally permitted to reach his desk.

POLICE TO INVESTIGATE.

Clerk Swords of the Folding Room in National House Found Dead.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—C. L. Swords, clerk of the folding room in the House of Representatives at Washington, was found dead at midnight in a squalid room at a Seventh Avenue lodging house, under conditions which led the police to start an investigation today. Official papers and a ring were means of identification. A physician reported death as "probably due to heart failure," but this was not satisfactory to the police, who could not understand how a man of Swords's type came to be in such a place. It is probable that an autopsy will be ordered.

AT IRVINGTON ON THE HUDSON.

The Shepard-Gould Wedding May be Celebrated Next Week.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—The marriage of Miss Helen M. Gould to Finley J. Shepard of St. Louis is expected to be celebrated next week. It is stated that Miss Gould has fixed the date of the wedding and that invitations will be issued within a few days, but as these are to be confined to near relatives and friends, and a home wedding is decided upon in preference to a church affair, the arrangements will be kept as private as possible.

The wedding will be held at Miss Gould's country place at Irvington on the Hudson, the idea of holding it at her Fifth Avenue residence have been abandoned, because of the publicity that has been attached to the announcement of her engagement.

CHANCE'S SALARY $25,000.

Total Pay of Eight Prominent Base Ball Managers $100,000 Yearly.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Now that Frank Chance has been signed as manager of the New York Americans, at a reported salary of $25,000, this record brings the total pay of eight prominent base ball managers to $100,000 a year, according to figures published here today. While a salary of $5,000 was a rarity 10 or 15 years ago, today there are at least eight managers supposed to be drawing a salary of $10,000 or over.

The list, headed by Chance, also includes McGraw of the New Yorks at $18,000, Mack of the Philadelphia Americans and Jennings of Detroit at $15,000; Clark of Pittsburgh $12,000; Stahl of the Boston Americans, Tinker of Cincinnati and Griffith of Washington $10,000. In addition to this Mack, Stahl and Griffith each own stock in their clubs.

SMALL GOLD PRODUCTION.

More Silver Mined in the United States in 1912 Since 1892.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Less gold was produced in the United States in 1912 than in any year since 1907, according to official estimates made public today by the United States Geological survey. It was declared, however, that more silver was mined during the 12 months than during any similar period since 1892.

The value of the gold mined during 1912 will approximate $91,635,189, a decrease of more than $5,200,000 from the value of the output of 1911. The decrease is ascribed mainly to the failure of the bonanza camp of Goldfield to maintain the rich character of its ore, although more ore was mined than in the previous year. Colorado's production also fell off, while California again took first place as the banner gold producing state.

The output of silver, conservatively figured, will total 62,369,974 fine ounces, valued at $37,382,414. This is the greatest amount of silver ever mined in the United States, although it does not represent the greatest value. In the opinion of the survey, based on late reports from its western offices, the output may be increased to 64,000,000 ounces.

PULLED FREE BY TUGS.

The Kroonland Prepared to Resume Her Voyage to Antwerp.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—After having been stuck in the mud over night at the harbor entrance, the outward bound steamer Kroonland was pulled free by tugs early today. Apparently undamaged, the steamer made ready to resume her voyage to Antwerp, with her 500 passengers on board.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Parsonage have arrived at Savannah, Ga.

—Lieutenant and Mrs. Frederick A. Mountford have returned from East Liverpool, Ohio, where they spent the holidays, and Lieutenant Mountford has resumed his duties at Fort Adams.

—Mrs. Newton Adams, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Adams in Orange, N. J., returned Wednesday to her home on Catherine street.

—Mr. John King, one of Newport's oldest citizens, who has been confined to his home on Goodwin street for the past five months, is able to sit up.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Bennett (Miss Halton) after a visit to the latter's mother, have moved into their home on Aquidneck avenue, where they will be at home after February 1.

—Mr. E. L. Winthrop, Jr., who has been for seven years president of the New York board of education, will decline a re-election when the board is re-organized at its next meeting. His term as a member of the board does not expire until February 1, 1915.

—Miss Marie de Barril, who is well known in Newport, where she has been engaged as social secretary for many summer residents for several years, is convalescing at her home in New York after a serious illness, having at one time been threatened with pneumonia.

—Mr. Vincent Astor has been elected a life member of the Aero Club of America, which controls aeronautic sport in the western hemisphere. In this Mr. Astor follows in the footsteps of his father, the late Colonel John Jacob Astor, who had been a life members since November, 1905, soon after the formation of the club.

ANGLO-AMERICAN PEACE.

Plans Being Made for One Hundredth Anniversary of Treaty.

War Anticipators See Threatening Outlook—A Republican Problem—Jim Mann's Circus.

[Washington correspondence of The News.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—About Christmas time, 1914, will be the one hundredth anniversary of the conclusion of the last peace treaty between the United States and Great Britain, and peace advocates and statesmen of both countries are getting ready to have the event properly celebrated, more particularly to felicitate each country upon the fact that there has been 100 years of peace between the two great English-speaking nations of the world. Some of the peace men are even trying to hurry the events, for it is well known that in the two years there may be mighty serious complications between the countries.

From everything that can be learned it is probable that the differences over canal tolls and the smashed Hay-Pauncefote treaty may become very acute. Military men are looking up data upon the northern frontier and have been suggesting that a national reserve ought to be organized in order to meet any emergency which may arise. And so it happens that while the peacemakers are talking peace the war anticipators are preparing for war.

When the Sixty-third Congress convenes the Republicans will have a committee problem as well as the Democrats. There are 17 minority committees in the Senate—that is committees with the same patronage and places as the big committees, but which have minority members as chairmen. The object is to secure patronage for old Senators. Now these minority chairmanships go according to seniority. The oldest minority Senators have the first choice. Besides these 17 places, there is what is called chairman of the minority, a place which will go to Senator Gallinger, leaving 17 places for the next 17 Republicans.

Those Republicans, including insurgents, are Lodge, Perkins, Clark (Wyoming), Warren, Nelson, Penrose, McCumber, Dillingham, Clapp, Smoot, La Follette, Sutherland, Brandegee, Du Pont, Smith (Michigan), Borah and Stephenson. Ordinarily it would be easy enough to distribute the chairmanships from private land claims to disposition of useless documents among these men, but Clapp, La Follette and Borah are not on the reservation. Clapp and La Follette may not go into the Republican caucus, but still they are seniors, and never have seniors been turned down. Just what to do with Clapp and La Follette is a problem.

"Woodrow Wilson will not dare make such a carnival of the offices as did Cleveland in 1893," remarked a Republican Senator. "But Cleveland was forced to use all the patronage he could reach in order to put through the silver repeal bill. Cleveland was considerable of a civil service reformer. Many Democrats fear that Wilson will also be inclined in that direction."

It was the proud boast of Senator Ashurst that he knew every man in Arizona. He thought he did until the recent election. Since then he has been getting letters from about twice as many people as he supposed lived in the new state. In this connection it is related that Senator Mark Smith of the same state met Ashurst the night of election. "Better skip out, Henry," he said. "I'm going to leave tonight."

"Why?" asked the young Senator.

"If you're here 24 hours after Wilson is elected you'll be swamped by office seekers. I'm going where they can't reach me."

And Mark was right. Ashurst was simply overwhelmed with applications in person and since he has arrived in Washington he gets them at the rate of 300 a day.

After looking over the gallery of the House for a few minutes and observing that the minority leader was still on the job a newspaper correspondent remarked, "I see Jim Mann's circus is here again."

Every organization and many would-be social leaders are trying to grab the Wilsons and make use of them to boost themselves into prominence. Women's auxiliaries of political organizations, women's clubs, social organizations and individuals have written to Mrs. Wilson asking to be received or to have a time set apart when they may pay their respects. Those who can get in on this deal will have some prominence, and perhaps they will get a "pull" for the future which will make them prominent during the administration. Naturally the Wilsons do not know much about the game that is being played, but they are sensible enough to know that they must go very slowly.

Arthur W. Dunn.

BRINGING IN NO RENT.

[Life.]

Sir Archibald Geikie tells a story of a Scotchman who, much against his own will was persuaded to take a holiday. He went to Egypt and visited the Pyramids. After gazing for some time at the Great Pyramid he muttered: "Man, what a lot of mason work not to be bringin' in any rent."

SEIZED IN THE LAST TWO YEARS

Secret Service Officials Prepare for Destruction of Counterfeits.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—United States secret service officials began preparations today to destroy a great store of counterfeits, representing thousands of dollars in spurious money, which had been seized during the past two years. Imitations of coins and currency are in the unique collection. Periodically the secret service destroys its accumulations of confiscated counterfeits, saving only such as are needed for evidence in court and those which are remarkable in their production.

THE HAYES BILL.

Amendment Proposed to Act of 1907 Regarding Contract Labor.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Entry into the United States of musicians, actors, artists, lecturers, singers, ministers of any religious denomination, professors for colleges or seminaries, persons belonging to any recognized learned profession or persons employed strictly as personal or domestic servants would not be prevented by the contract labor provision of the act of 1907, preventing the immigration of aliens into this country under the terms of a bill introduced in the House today by Representative Hayes of California. The bill is proposed as an amendment to the act of 1907, and especially to that portion applicable to contract labor.

DIED FROM HEART FAILURE.

Body of Consul General Nash to be Cremated in London.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—A verdict of "death from heart failure" was returned at the coroner's inquest today on the body of Paul Nash, United States consul general at Budapest. The doctor who had attended Mr. Nash was called as witness and testified that his patient had taken a sleeping draught to combat the insomnia from which he had been suffering and that this possibly accelerated death, but Mr. Nash's heart was in bad condition. The late consul general's body is to be cremated here and the ashes sent to Cambridge, Mass.

DEMANDS PRACTICALLY THE SAM

About 15,000 Women White Goods Workers Join Garment Strikers.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Some 15,000 more women, all white goods workers, joined the garment workers' strike today. They are members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, which yesterday contributed to the ranks of the strikers 10,000 workers on kimonas and wrappers. Their demands are practically the same. Leaders of the ladies' Waist and Dress Makers' Union predicted that by Saturday night 30,000 members of that organization would quit work.

FOR DESTRUCTION OF MAILS.

Long Sentences Passed on Two Militant Suffragettes in London.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Long sentences were passed today on two of the militant suffragettes, many of whom, in recent months, have engaged in a campaign of destruction of the mails. May Billinghurst and Louisa Gay, two of the first to be arrested in connection with those outrages, were brought up for trial at the Old Bailey today and each condemned to eight months' imprisonment.

May Billinghurst, who is a cripple and goes about on a tricycle, already has been imprisoned on several occasions in connection with the suffrage campaign. The evidence given today showed that letter boxes throughout the centre and the West End had been damaged, together with their contents, by means of acids, sticky fluids of various kinds, varnish or ink, and in some cases inflammable materials, such as rags soaked in lamp oil, had been inserted through the slits in the boxes. Many valuable documents have been destroyed in this way, including money orders, checks and bank notes.

NO PROVISION FOR EXPENSES.

Swiss Riflemen Not to Go to United States for International Contest.

BERNE, Switzerland, Jan. 9.—The Swiss riflemen have decided not to go to the United States for the international rifle contest to be held next September at Camp Perry, Ohio, in connection with the centennial celebration of the Perry victory on Lake Erie. The reason given is that no provision has been made for their expenses, such as is usual at similar tournaments in Europe.

PLAN TO ABOLISH ICEBERGS.

Idea of Building a Jetty Across Grand Banks to be Set Before Congress.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—A plan for abolishing icebergs is to be laid before Congress. The New York Board of Trade and Transportation announces its endorsement of a bill which Congressman Calder of Brooklyn introduced in the House, calling for a government commission to study the feasibility of constructing a jetty across the Grand Banks of Newfoundland.

The idea, which the members of the board were at first inclined to jeer, but later adopted, was explained by its originator, C. L. Ricker, a Brooklyn engineer. He said he would obstruct the Labrador current by laying a steel steel cable, 10 inches in diameter, across the Grand Banks, where the ocean bay is a level plateau, against which the current would deposit sand and form a ridge extending for two miles to the east of Cape Race. Greenland, he maintained, would be transformed into a garden and England would be surrounded by a current as warm as the Carribean sea.

Mr. Riker declared that however wild this project might seem at first sight, it had received the endorsement of many engineers and even the United States hydrographic office had considered it feasible. He estimated the cost at $20,000,000.

Increases in Rates from Sault Ste. Marie to This Country Suspended.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Proposed increases of about 10 per cent in the freight rates on news print paper from Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, to destinations in the United States, were suspended today by the Interstate Commerce Commission from January 11 to July 11.

NAMES OF MEN WHO PROFITED WITHHELD.

G. H. Henry Certified to Speaker of House for Contempt.

National Banks and Officers Participated in a Syndicate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Because he refused to give to the House Money Trust committe the names of 24 national bank officers who profited in a syndicate formed to market stock of the California Petroleum Company, George G. Henry of Solomon & Co., New York bankers, was certified to the Speaker of the House today for contempt. The full banking and currency committee voted for that action unanimously.

Mr. Henry testified that national banks and national bank officers participated in a syndicate to the extent of $1,085,000 and without putting up any money or taking over any stock took profits of about $50,000. He maintained that his confidential relations with his customers would not allow him to furnish the names of the participants and presented a statement framed by former Senator John C. Spooner as counsel, justifying his refusal to answer.

The speaker presented the certification to the House, and that body voted to certify the facts to the United States attorney for the District of Columbia, with authority to proceed with the criminal action involving fine or imprisonment.

The case threatens to involve the ultimate question of the Money Trust committee authority to inquire into the affairs of the national banks, which probably would be taken to the Supreme Court. Opinions on the subject among the government's legal experts in the Department of Justice differ.

If the Henry case is fought out to a conclusion, the committee's inquiry into the questions to which it related may be blocked pending a decision.

UNDER ERDMAN ACT.

Knapp and Neill Asked to Mediate Over Wages and Conditions.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—The firemen of 60 eastern railroads agreed with the railroad managers today to ask Martin A. Knapp, judge of the United States court of commerce, and Charles P. Neill, United States commissioner of labor, to mediate under the Erdman act in their controversy over wages and working conditions. Telegrams were dispatched to Washington asking Messrs. Knapp and Neill to act.

In rejecting the committee of seven's proposal, W. S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, spoke for his union in a five-page letter, in which he severely arraigned and criticised the arbitrators in the engineers' wage controversy. The letter was not made public. After a conference over the letter the railroad managers issued this note:

"The railroads consider it to the interest of all concerned that an agreement be reached in this matter now, so as to avoid the turmoil and feeling that accompany the taking of a strike referendum vote. We, therefore, suggest that you join us in requesting Messrs. Knapp and Neill to mediate between us. If necessary to secure this mediation, we are willing to concede that you will be able to get a favorable strike referendum vote."

The firemen accepted this proposal almost immediately and the telegrams sent to Messrs. Knapp and Neill requested that they come to New York at once. Adjournment was then taken until the telegrams should be answered. There are about 24,000 firemen involved in the present controversy employed on all the roads east of Chicago and north of the Ohio river.

FOR FIRST TIME IN YEARS.

Democrats in Control of Both Branches in Indiana Legislature.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 9.—For the first time in many years the Democrats were in control of both branches of the state legislature when that body assembled today for its sixty eighth annual session. In the House the membership is 95 Democrats, 4 Republicans and 1 Progressive. In the senate there are 38 Democrats, 9 Republicans and 2 Progressives.

Governor Thomas R. Marshall, vice president-elect, sent his final message to the legislature today, but will not retire from the office until January 13, when Samuel M. Ralston, Democrat, will be inducted as his successor. Among the subjects that will come up for consideration are a workers' compensation law, an inheritance tax law, an anti-loan shark law, a law making the sale of habit-forming drugs a felony, a franchise referendum law, an equal suffrage law and a law providing a minimum wage for women.

RENOUNCED DIGNITIES OF RANK.

Archduchess Elenore Weds Austrian Naval Officer at Saybusch.

VIENNA, Jan. 9.—Archduchess Elenore, eldest daughter of Archduke Karl Stephan, by her marriage to an Austrian naval officer, Lieutenant Von Kloss, renounced all the dignities and privileges connected with her rank. The ceremony was performed at Saybusch, in the province of Galicia, and was a quiet affair, at which only the members of the two families were present. The archduchess, who is 26 years old, was obliged to obtain the consent of Emperor Francis Joseph and of her parents to her marriage.

ATTEMPTS FLIGHT ACROSS ALPS.

Peruvian Aviator Bielovucci Arrives at Brig in Valais.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Jan. 9.—Jean Bielovucci, the Peruvian aviator, arrived today at Brig, in the Canter of Valais, with the object of attempting a flight in a monoplane across the Alps into Italy. Bielovucci intends to follow the same course over the Simplon pass as was taken by George Chavez, his late friend and compatriot, who died September 27, 1910, after accomplishing the flight over the mountains from Brig to Domodossola, Italy, where he was fatally injured in landing.

Bielovucci, who is not yet 24 years old, holds a French pilot's certificate. He made a sensational flight in Paris in 1910, when he circled the Eiffel tower. In September of the same year he flew from Paris to Bordeaux, by way of Orleans, Potiers and Angouleme. The day after his arrival at Bordeaux he attempted a flight from that city to Milan, Italy. He traveled today over the course in an automobile and now only awaits favorable weather to try to carry out his task.

EXPECTED TO PASS BY BIG VOTE.

Cleveland Attorneys Draw Up Bill to Legalize Boxing in Ohio.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 9.—A bill to legalize boxing in Ohio has been drawn up by Cleveland attorneys representing boxing clubs here and in many other places in the state, it was announced here, and the bill will be introduced at once in the legislature. Since the issuance, three weeks ago of Mayor Baker's order prohibiting boxing matches here, local promoters have visited nearly every city in the state to arouse interest in the bill. The bill, similar to the Frawley law in New York, authorizes the appointment by the governor of an athletic commission, which would have control over all cities holding boxing matches and the boxers participating. Local promoters believe the bill will pass by a big vote.

10—There was only a small demand for stocks at the opening today and the level of prices was barely changed. The only fluctuation of more than a fraction was an advance of 1¼ in Atlantic Coast Line. The tone was steady.

Noon—The success with which manipulated issues were marked up encouraged more general buying of standard stocks and by noon a large number of issues were quoted from 1 to 3 points above yesterday's close. Preparations to market large bond and note issues were regarded as evidence of the confidence in banking circles as to the outlook. The abatement of tension in the money market and the clearing up of the European political situation were chief factors in the improvement of fundamental conditions. Bonds were firm. SAME SLASHING GAME AS OF OLD.

Even the Formidable Liberty Five Goes Down Before St. Joseph's.

Junior Middles Defeat Senior Middles in the High School Series.

That formidable combination, the Liberty Five of New York, played against the St. Joseph's basket ball team in Hazard Memorial hall Wednesday evening, and was beaten, 28 to 20. The former Naval Reserves played the same slashing game as of old. Still, there was not the enthusiasm manifested which characterized the contests in the armory two years ago, and the reason for this is apparent. The fans, meaning those who followed the armory games, have become hardened and quite accustomed to the spectacle of seeing an opposing team outstripped in the fine points; so hardened, in fact, it seems, that the Reserves' team would need to be world beaters, really, in order to arouse the same sort of enthusiasm among their supporters of the past. There is, however, the younger element growing up, and it is to them that the new St. Joseph's will look for inspiration and support, rather than to the thoroughly seasoned fans.

It was a pleasure again to see the Reserves pitted against such old-time opponents as Charlie Lamb, Jukey Fuller and Harry Wallum. Each has a reputation of his own which any basket ball player might well envy. But as every combination of stars who have gone up against the Naval Reserves know, it is team work, thorough familiarity with each others' movements, that wins the game, rather than individual effort.

The first period saw the visitors leading the locals at one period of the game, the score standing 14 to 12. Up to this the Liberty Five had been steadily bringing up their score. Shea made a basket, however, just in time to tie the score before the period ended.

In the second half both teams covered closely and many long-distance shots were taken at the basket. Fuller was a wizard in this respect for the visitors, while Shea and Dunn contributed baskets which brought forth applause.

In order that the visiting team might catch the New York boat, only a short intermission was taken. Referee McManus called only five fouls during the game, which indicates that it was a remarkably clean contest. These were for minor offenses, holding and once for pushing. Holding was quite noticeable in the first period, but in the second both teams seemed disposed to play the ball. As usual the Reserves found opportunity, now and then, to give a demonstration of their method of passing, which is always a pleasant diversion for them, but a rather unsafe one for their opponents. The line-up and summary:

St. Joseph's,		Liberty Five.
Roche, r.f.		l.b., Fuller
Harvey, l.f.		r.b., C. Lamb
Dunn, c.		c., McMillan
McMahon, r.b.		l.f., L. Lamb
Shea, l.b.		r.f., Wallum

Score—St. Joseph's 28, Liberty Five 20. Goals from floor—Harvey 3, Dunn 4, Fuller 3, Wallum 5, McMahon 2, Shea 2, Roche 2, C. Lamb, L. Lamb. Goals from fouls—Harvey 2.

Referee—McManus. Timer—Hazard.

In the inter-class basket ball series at the Rogers High School Wednesday afternoon the Junior Middles defeated the Senior Middles by the score of 30 to 13. The feature was the spurt which the losers took in the second half, though it did not last long. The Junior Middles out-played their opponents at all other times, in passing, shooting, and general work. There was a great deal of unnecessary roughness on the parts of the younger players and fouls were frequently called on them by the referee.

The score of the first half was 22 to 8, but at the beginning of the second the losers scored all their points before the Junior Middles played. Scott of the Senior Middles played a fine game, and was the mainstay of his team. He was everywhere on the floor and scored nine of the 13 points. Clarke making the other four. Diggles and Fletcher were the high scorers for their team, and each played good games in the forward positions. The line-up and summary follow:

Junior Middles.		Senior Middles.
Fletcher, l.f.	r.g.,	Sherman, Clarke
Diggles, r.f.		l.g., Holloway
Sullivan, c.		c., Clarke, Sherman
Denniston, l.g.	r.f.,	Geraghty, MacIver
Sheffield, r.g.		l.f., Scott

Score—Junior Middles 30, Senior Middles 13. Goals from floor—Denniston 6, Fletcher 5, Diggles 2, Sullivan 2; Scott 3, Clarke 2. Goals from fouls—Scott 2, Clarke. Referee—Chase. Timer—Marshall.

POOR CONDITIONS FOR CHILDREN.

Graphically Portrayed at Welfare Conference Exhibit in Providence

Pupils From Rhode Island Institute For the Deaf Demonstrate Kindergarten Training.

The conditions surrounding children employed in factories, mills, sweatshops and in street trades were graphically portrayed Wednesday evening at the Child Welfare Conference exhibition in Providence by Owen Lovejoy of New York Secretary of the national child labor committee. A branch of this exhibit to be seen in this city next March.

With the aid of stereopticon views Mr. Lovejoy showed how little boys and girls for low wages work long hours in insanitary conditions in various occupations throughout the country. He laid particular stress on the conditions in which newsboys ply their trade. His slides pictured boys selling newspapers at late hours at the doors of saloons, and boys spending their idle time and day's wages in shooting craps in back alleys.

In addition to Mr. Lovejoy's lecture, which was held in a small room off the gallery, there were the usual exhibitions and an entertainment of folk dancing by the school children in the big recreation square in the centre of the hall.

The hall was thronged with visitors. Many of those who saw the exhibit during the day were from Connecticut and various parts of the state.

The entertainment in the evening began with a concert by the boys' band of the Sockanosset School for Boys. After this a program of folk dancing was carried, under the direction of Miss Ellen Logarde, director of physical training in the public schools. Then the boys of the seventh and eighth grades of the Broad Street grammar school gave a gymnastic exercise and folk dances were given. This was followed by an exhibition of school games by the boys and girls of the graduating class, 1913, of the Bridgham school.

The kindergarten section is proving especially attractive to old and young. It is in charge of the Rhode Island Kindergarten League, a state organization of kindergarten teachers numbering more than 75 members. Their arrangements include a program of lessons and stories given in an alcove of the side room devoted to education.

Miss Elizabeth Baker, supervisor of kindergarten training in the Rhode Island Normal School, has made a complete survey of the kindergarten movement throughout the state. Her report shows that, while the kindergarten is regarded as a valuable educational asset of Pawtucket, Newport, Woonsocket, Providence and other sections of Rhode Island, it is missing from the educational scheme of Westerly, Bristol, Warren and East Providence. A summary of Miss Baker's investigation is presented on an exhibit screen which emphasizes pictorially the relative merits of the education provided for the child under five by the street and by the kindergarten. The poster sketches in color illustrating this point were prepared by Miss Frankenstein of Westerly.

One of the most interesting features of Wednesday's program was a class of five pupils from the Rhode Island Institute for the Deaf. This showed a deaf child just beginning to receive instruction, one who had been receiving it for three months and others still further advanced. It was given in the kindergarten section, and was followed by a class of 11 deaf pupils in voice culture.

"Child Hygiene and Infant Mortality" was the subject of several papers read and the general discussion followed at the sessions of the health department. Dr. Henry W. Burnett, physician of the department of children's diseases of the Rhode Island Hospital, was chairman of the meetings and made the opening address.

Dr. Ellen A. Stone, superintendent of Child Hygiene of the Providence health department, read an interesting paper on medical supervision of school children in Rhode Island, in which she traced the movement in its progress in the state and described the work being done in the various cities and towns. The discussion was opened by Dr. C. E. Hawkes, late medical school inspector in Providence, who told of the origin of the movement in Europe and its spread over the world, with the information that the United States was the last country to take it up, no appreciable advance having been made here until 1904.

"Problems Met by the District Nurse" was the subject of a paper read by Miss Mary S. Gardner, who told of many cases which have come under her notice in which the condition of the children she found to be deplorable. She called attention to the fact that parents opposed having anything done for their children by the nurses or physicians visiting the schools. The discussion was carried on by Miss Lucy Ayers, formerly superintendent of nurses of the Rhode Island Hospital, Professor Munro of Brown University and others.

Dr. H. I. Bowditch gave an address on "Milk, Its Relation to Infant Mortality," and was followed by Dr. W. H. Buffum, who spoke along the same line. Dr. E. H. Place read a paper on "The Present Mortality of Diphtheria," and was followed by Dr. D. L. Richardson, Dr. W. P. Lucas and Dr. W. G. Dwinell.

Vacant Fire Site Suggested as Location for Long Talked About Hotel or New Postoffice.

To the Editor of The Daily News, Newport, R. I.

Dear Sir: Wouldn't the site made vacant by the recent fire in your city be a good one for that long talked about hotel or a new postoffice? Wake up, Newport!

NEW HAVEN RAILROAD CLERKS MAY STRIKE.

By a vote of 679 to 75, clerks employed by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company have voted to strike, if the company does not grant their demands for a minimum wage of $2.25 per day, an eight-hour day, an increase of salary of 35 cents per day and a number of smaller demands. A number of minor demands have already been granted by the railroad and the clerks feel hopeful that the other demands will also be granted.

TO REVIVE THE BOARD OF TRADE.

Meeting of Business Men Appoints a Committee to Confer With Secretary.

Those Present Unanimous in Opinion That Action of This Nature is Desirable.

Thirty responded to a call for business men to meet in Builders and Merchants' hall Wednesday evening to organize a trade organization. The result of the meeting, which was an enthusiastic one, was the appointment of a committee of five to confer with Secretary Commerford of the old Board of Trade and arrange for the calling together of the surviving members of that body, with a view to reviving it and recruiting its ranks to a strong membership from the present business interests of the city. A unanimous rising vote was taken, to show that those who had taken this action in putting out a committee were heartily in favor of such a proceeding.

Among those present were Mayor William MacLeod, ex-Mayors F. P. Garrettson and William P. Clarke, John R. Austin of the Newport Paper & Grocery Company, William Loys of the Century Store, Charles Clarkson of the Lappin Store, Harry B. Weaver of the Acker, Merrall & Condit store, Joseph A. Foy of the Talbot store, Arthur Lowy of the Bijou Theatre, James H. Drury of James H. Drury & Co., T. Freg Kaull, Samuel S. Thompson, A. B. Cascambas, J. B. F. Smith, Herbert Smith of Kenyon & Smith, Daniel E. Sullivan of the Old City Hall Novelty Store, D. B. Allen, Daniel J. McGowan, Harry H. Bradley, John Gladding, Jr., Charles S. Sullivan, William H. Clark of the Plaulger & Manchester Company, James E. Kavanagh of the J. F. Marden Company, John Rugan, Halsey J. Kelley and Herbert P. Harrison of the Powell pharmacy.

Owing to the illness of Howard G. Ward, the promoter of the movement, he had asked John R. Austin to preside and the gathering elected Mr. Austin temporary chairman. Mr. Kelley, secretary of the previous meeting, was chosen temporary secretary.

In opening the work of the evening the chairman read a letter from Mr. Ward, which advised the establishment of a permanent organization at once and the election of officers, saying that a paid secretary would be essential.

Mr. Garrettson was the first to speak. He said Newport had a Board of Trade in 1901, which still exists. He named its officers—President George E. Vernon, Vice Presidents George Pierce and George A. Weaver, all of whom are dead; Secretary Arthur B. Commerford and Treasurer Thomas P. Peckham. He believed in the revival of the old body and said he had seen Mr. Commerford, who expressed his willingness to assist in such a movement. The speaker said he was chairman of the Newport Improvement Association executive committe, and that while that body was organized for a different purpose the two could be of great assistance to each other. There is much work to be done by a board of trade and a great opportunity for one in such a prosperous city, which has $20,000,000 on deposit in its banks. The increasing naval importance of the bay demands such a body, a hotel is still needed, charities are too profuse and need organization, credits are too lax and need investigation by an organized body and there is untold opportunity for profitable work for an organization of business men.

Ex-Mayor Clarke said there had been a movement on foot this fall to revive the old Board of Trade. He announced that he had inquired as to the bank deposit of the old body and was informed that it was $361. He moved that a committee be appointed to secure a meeting of the old board.

Mr. Kavanagh said the old board plan might be all right, but he thought it had been dead too long and that new blood should start anew.

Mr. Garrettson advised a committee of five to confer with Mr. Commerford, and spoke of the advantages and the courtesy of treating with the old organization. He said there is but a single purpose, that of the advancement of Newport, and the movement should be started in the best way.

Mr. Allen thought the start should be made right; it is well to take time and go slow. There should be no undue haste and every business man should be with the new organization. He favored the committee of five, to report at a future date.

Mr. Kaull suggested that Mr. Ward should be named as one of the committee, in view of the work which he had done.

Mayor MacLeod, called upon to speak, said he was glad of the interest shown. There was no question but there would be co-operation from the old board. He had knowledge of a meeting of five of its members, who planned to revive it, but before they could act Mr. Ward came out with his plan for an organization and it was deemed advisable to drop the matter for the time being, as two such organizations would not be desirable. With the present impetus the old body could be revived, and with the new blood there could be a new start, and all should pledge themselves to help. Newport, he said, is too small for two such organizations. One authoritative, harmonious body is what is needed.

Mr. Clarke's motion was passed, and the chair begging to be relieved from appointing the committee, it was elected, as follows: Mayor MacLeod, ex-Mayor Clarke, Daniel E. Sullivan, J. H. Kavanagh, H. G. Ward. Mr. Garrettson declined, as he would be out of the city.

It was then voted, by a unanimous rising vote, that it was the opinion of those present that the Board of Trade should be revived.

Daniel E. Sullivan was called upon for remarks. He said everybody loves Newport. Better times are coming, there is now a bunch of young men who have made up their minds to take hold, and the future looks rosy. He was building castles in the air, which he expected the young men to pull down. There are high ideals to work for, with the coming of Narragansett bay as a naval base, which naval officers inform him will bring here between 5,000 and 10,000 mechanics. He believed it time that the business men of the city come out of their shells, and become acquainted and in touch with one another.

Mr. Kaull said all should assist in making the start.

Mr. McGowan, called upon, made one of his characteristic pushing talks, telling of the opportunities and the necessities. He would have every office holder, every business man and every taxpayer a member of the organization, to help build up the city. Therefore the dues should be nominal, but a capable permanent secretary would be necessary.

Mr. C. H. Sullivan, who was also called upon, talked about seeing familiar faces which have always been seen at meetings called for the building up of Newport, and of the continued absence of others who hold aloft from such movements. He had something to say about money in circulation in a city, and how unless it is poured into one's hand directly by an outsider there are business men who could not see it coming or fathom the source.

Mr. Garrettson spoke of the historical importance of the city, the little known by Newporters of the points of interest to outsiders, and the need of a good guide book. He grieved at the loss of the old Bull house as an asset to the city.

Adjournment was taken to the call of the chair, at the earliest possible time that a report from the committee can be secured.

MR. FEARING CANNOT SERVE.

Theodore Francis Green Expected to Take His Place as a Presidential Elector.

Ex-Mayor Daniel B. Fearing of this city who is spending the winter in California, will not be able to attend the meeting of the Presidential electors chosen in November to cast the vote of Rhode Island for Woodrow Wilson. This meeting will be held, according to law, in Bristol next Monday, and it is expected that a letter from Mr. Fearing, announcing his inability to serve, will be received before that time. The electors are authorized to fill the vacancy, and it is said that Theodore Francis Green, the Democratic candidate for governor in November, will be chosen to take Mr. Fearing's place.

Rear Admiral Frank E. Beatty, who has been commandant of the navy yard at Washington, is assigned to the command of the Fourth division, with the Minnesota as flagship.

MR. NORMAN ON THE PANAMA CANAL.

Mr. Guy Norman spoke on "The Panama Canal" before the Current Topics Club Wednesday afternoon. He has spent several days on the canal as guest of Colonel George W. Goethals, U. S. A., and had a vast amount of information on the work of building the new waterway, including the excavations, the construction of the huge concrete walls for the dams and gates, and the thousand and one things which have developed as the work progressed. The talk was illustrated by many stereopticon slides, showing the present condition of the now nearly completed canal, the pictures being operated by Mr. I. S. Coggeshall. Mr. Norman talked more than an hour and was heard with close attention by the members of the club.
